Heart Ablation Case Study

A Digital Healthcare Upgrade Your Employees Can Bank On... Literally!

At a Glance

Cardiac procedures like heart ablations are among the most costly and time-sensitive in healthcare. For self-funded plans, fast access and upfront pricing are critical to managing both care and cost.

The Challenge

The employee required a complex heart ablation, and they needed to move quickly. Traditional network pricing was $150,000, layered with inflated facility fees, opaque billing, and delays that made timely care nearly impossible. Both the employer and employee were at risk—financially and operationally.
